

The Third Annual Investigators Workshop was held in Dallas, Texas, on March 20 in coordination with the 41st Annual Meeting of the Radiation Research Society. Ongoing research projects were reviewed at the workshop and new findings and future research opportunities will be discussed. In particular, one hour was set aside to discuss facilities for ground-based simulation of space radiation. A banquet was held at the Southfork Ranch, site of many episodes of the popular television series Dallas. The banquet speaker was Dr. Robert Phillips.

No program is available.